THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The National Temperance Convention assembled in this city yesterday. Their object, as we understand it, is to secure the passage of such laws as will effectually suppress intemperance, so far as such laws can be enforced by legislation. It is not our province to say whether the Convention will succeed in its object or not. It is not a political party convention, and has no political ends to subserve, so far as we know. It must necessarily, therefore, be a party to which all parties may belong, and in which all parties may unite. It is not, therefore, a party which can be defeated by the blunders of any other party, or which can be destroyed by the success of any other party. It is not a party which can be helped or hindered by the action of any other party. It is not a party which can be affected by the success or defeat of any other party. It is not a party which can be affected by the success or defeat of any other party. It is not a party which can be affected by the success or defeat

MORNING SESSION.

The first regular session of the National Temperance Convention was held, yesterday, in Farwell Hall.

The Committee assembled in the Y. M. C. A. parlors immediately after the adjournment of the meeting on Tuesday, and began to canvass for the position of President. Several names were mentioned, but finally Hon. Neal Dow, of Maine, was unanimously and unceremoniously selected, and the Committee then had their names dropped from the list of candidates, and the matter was settled in a very few minutes.

JOHN JEWETT,

Rev. John Jewett, D.D., of the Chicago Theological Seminary, was then nominated as Secretary to the temporary organization, and was elected by acclamation.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Dow, accompanied by Mr. Jewett, entered the hall, and were received with loud applause. Mr. Dow, on taking the chair, said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I am very much obliged to you for this mark of your confidence, and I will endeavor to discharge the duties of the position to which you have called me to the best of my ability. I hope we shall have a harmonious session, and that we shall accomplish much good.

Mr. Jewett, Secretary, said he was sorry to say that the Rev. Mr. Fuller, who was to have been present, was unable to be present, and Mr. Dow was then called upon to address the Convention.

Mr. Dow said: Gentlemen, I am not in the habit of making speeches, and I do not propose to make one now. I am glad to see so many gentlemen present, and I hope we shall have a harmonious session, and that we shall accomplish much good.

The Secretary read the resolution to be submitted to-day on the basis for action.

The Chair. The meeting this morning is ready to proceed.

Rev. Robert Lowry wanted the floor, but said he gave way for the moment.

Mr. Jewett wished to know if he was a member of the Committee of Arrangements, and if the Committee had formulated any resolutions to be presented for the consideration of the Convention.

Rev. Robert Lowry answered that he was a member of the Committee of Arrangements, but that the Committee had not formulated any resolutions to be presented to the Convention.

The Chair. The report is in order, etc.

Rev. Robert Lowry, from the Committee of Arrangements, reported the following permanent officers for the Convention, which were unanimously adopted:

Secretaries—Rev. Dr. Jewett, Illinois; John N. Stearns, New York; J. C. Bradshaw, Illinois; George L. Fisk, Philadelphia.

Treasurer—Hon. Neal Dow, New York.
